BE BOLD & BE BETTER : THE FUTURE OF REAL ESTATE (IMPACT SERIES)

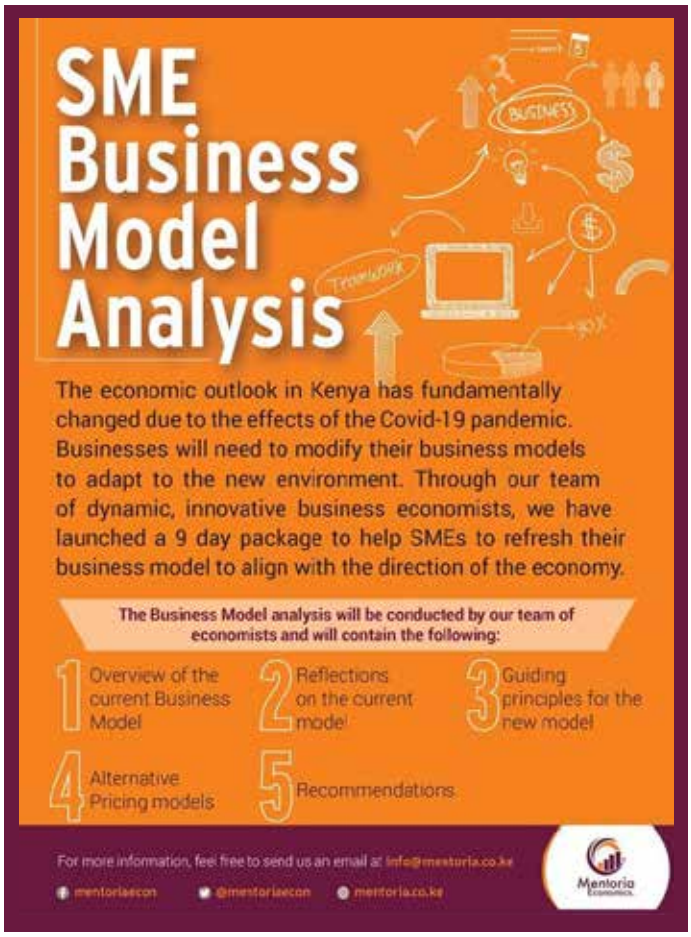
FEATURED SPEAKERS

Ken Gichinga
(Chief Economist, Mentoria Economics)

Covid 19 has created an unprecedented disruption to the local and global economy. As such there is a need to further stimulate the Kenyan economy so as to ensure a quick recovery . There will be need for an economy wide stimulus and one that specifically targets the real estate sector.

Our estimate is that economy needs more than 300 billion shillings worth of stimulus to stabilize the system.

In the event that there is a lack of sufficient stimulus in the economy, we shall see a sharp downward correction in property prices which will have major effects on the economy.



John Mbugua
(C.E.O Equity Homes Africa)

Eng. Maurice Akech
(Executive Director, NCA National c.onstruction Authority)

The National Construction Authority (NCA) is a government organisation which regulates, streamlines and builds capacity in the construction industry.The period for renewing the Annual Practicing Licenses for contractors has commenced.The renewal, which applies to all registered contractors, commenced on 1st June 2020 and will run for 30 days, until 30th June 2020. The licenses issued will be valid for the financial year 2020/2021.

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic which caused a disruption of regular business processes, the requirement for continuous professional development (CPD) points has been waived, as many contractors were unable to attend trainings in line with the Ministry of Health guidelines. Previously, a minimum of ten (10) CPD points were required in order to renew the license.

Mr. Joseph Kamau
(Executive Director and Head of Mortgage Business at HF group)

Real estate may be our only way out of the economic crisis that will occur from Covid 19
If the government could commission a project of 50,000 units, this would automatically change the direction of the country. Jobs would be created and the trickle down effect would positively impact every one down to the mama mboga.

HF group will offer innovative products and services, delivered under one roof by exceptionally committed people to enhance shareholder value. They will operate across the property value-chain as suppliers and financiers that offer unique solutions to all while being environmentally responsible.
